THE WAR

TOKYO—A United Nations delegation, probably consisting of one South Korean and two American officers, was being prepared today to leave for Kaesong and meet a Communist group Sunday to arrange a cease-fire conference. The prospective armistice that would end the ravaging Korean war was brought closer to reality Thursday morning when Gen. Matthew Ridgway accepted a Red proposal that July 8th be set as the date for a preliminary truce session. He asked the Communists to radio assurance that his delegation will be safeguarded from enemy fire in red-held territory. By 10:30 Thursday night (8:30 a. m. EDT) the Chinese and North Korean Red radios had not yet broadcast the safe conduct guarantee.

SUBSCRIPTION OF $174,804 LISTED FOR THE HOSPITAL

Rohm & Haas Co. Donates To Lower Bucks Co. Hospital Fund

N E E D RECOGNIZED

Termed "Magnificent Demonstration of Civic Initiative"

A subscription of $174,804 by Rohm & Haas Company to the $1,500,000 building fund program for the new Lower Bucks County Hospital was announced today by T. R. Jones of the fund's corporation subscription committee.

The gift was presented to Mr. Jones by W. B. McCluer, manager of the company's Bristol plant, who is also serving on the corporation committee.

"This tangible evidence of the company's support and understanding of our long awaited and much needed hospital facilities is sure to serve as an outstanding example to other companies in our community," Mr. Jones stated.

In presenting the subscription, Mr. McCluer said that the company's action was based on its interest in helping to meet the area's greatest need, namely the building and equipping of a modern community general hospital. He indicated that the amount of the gift was determined by the estimated capital investment to be made by the new hospital in creating the facilities that will be available for the health protection of the company's employees and their dependents.

"Having recognized the serious need for a hospital," Mr. McCluer continued, "the company has accepted what it agrees to be its equitable share in helping to make possible adequate hospital facilities for the workers, their families and the general public."

Mr. James E. Harris, building fund chairman, termed the action by the Rohm & Haas Company "a magnificent demonstration of civic initiative on the part of one of our largest industries." He expressed confidence that the subscription coming at the outset of the building fund program and in complete harmony with the formula suggested as a guide for companies, had set a standard which would inspire others and go far towards assuring the success of the $1,500,000 program.

Completion of the building fund will make possible the construction of the planned three-story, 100-bed Lower Bucks County Hospital, the first general hospital in the community's history.

Four Alleged "Hot Rod" Driver Caught by Police

MORRISVILLE, July 5—Four alleged "hot-rod" drivers were stopped by a hail of bullets Monday after their car crashed into a tree on the old Lincoln Highway after a five-mile chase, police stated yesterday.

Patrolmen Stanley Naprawa and Harry Tomlinson gave their names as Joseph E. Perkins, 23, of Newtown, the driver; George Engard, 18, of Newtown; William McAllister, 19, of Morrisville, and J. P. Cope, 18, of Bristol. Perkins was charged with resisting arrest and abusing a conditional license permit before Magistrate Neil Nolan, here.

The two officers spotted the speeding car pass by them on Bridge street and immediately gave chase. The occupants, ignoring the police siren, stepped up the chase.

Patrolman Naprawa then fired a warning shot into the air, but the speeding car continued on. Patrolman Tomlinson, joining in the firing, knocked out the left rear tire, but the careening auto continued to gain speed.

In the next few hectic minutes a total of 23 shots were fired by the two officers at the runaway car, ten of which hit the rear fenders and lower body section. Finally the car swerved and crashed into a tree, trapping the four occupants.

The four youths, none the worse for the ordeal of the chase, were carted off to police headquarters for questioning.

HERITAGE OF DEBT

The American people are becoming, perhaps permanently, insensible to the matter of increasing federal debt. Billions have been piled upon billions until today this nation is bonded for more than $257,000,000,000, more than a quarter of a trillion dollars, a sum incomprehensible even to the most astute financier.

The people are being told that the debt as well as taxes must be increased to meet the emergency of possible war, that the people must avoid waste and tighten their belts in behalf of national defense. But there has not been the slightest decrease in non-defense spending by the government, and the pork-barrel remains open to all comers.

Members of the average American family, who have gone in for thrift and find themselves out of debt and in good shape for the years ahead, are not as well off as they have imagined. Instead they are obligated to the extent of $6,786, which is their proportionate share of the nation's public debt. And it must be paid if the nation is to escape the ignominy of bankruptcy.

War alone is not responsible for the size of the national debt.
Eliminate the billions which have been expended for socialistic schemes and the operations of increasing bureaucracy, and the sum would be within the ability of the people to pay in due course of time.

This is the heritage that is being passed on to the next generation, to the everlasting shame of those who are responsible for the crime. It is no less than that.

SOMETHING TO WATCH

Other states will watch how Maryland makes out with a new highway law just passed at Annapolis. It empowers the state to condemn property not only for immediate use in road-building—that power of a state is ancient—but to condemn for future needs that qualify as "certain".

Maryland in recent years has done a great deal of express highway building, mostly on interstate routes, and is planning more fine roads for the future. It is in southern Maryland, incidentally, that many state roads agencies and the U. S. Bureau of Roads are carrying on a major experiment—trying to ascertain the resistance of modern pavements to heavy trucking.

The new power to condemn right-of-way for future use is ready to be invoked along the route of the Annapolis-Washington Expressway now under construction. Work has carried it westward part way to Washington, but new housing developments are creeping into what must be the broad right-of-way. The state does not have the funds now to build the road onward. Obviously the purchase price of land a year or two hence may be much higher than at present, and taxpayers would suffer.

Inevitably, if traffic continues to increase, other states must make provision for similar planning.

OF POLITICS

The Pay-Roll Setup

Washington, July 5.—Recently there has been a recurrence of newspaper articles and interviews to the general effect that, despite the obviously cogent reasons he should not do so, Mr.
Truman is sure to try for another term in the White House. To some extent these journalistic outpourings have shaken the popular conviction that he had made up his mind to retire. They also have distressed certain Democratic senators known to cherish White House aspirations.

The thing that particularly pains these senatorial aspirants is the repeatedly printed statements concerning the "strong demand" that the President run again and that the accompanying assertion that this "demand" will "force" him to make another fight. Privately, these gentlemen say this is all "stuff and nonsense," that there is no "demand" and it is absurd to talk about it. But they are mistaken.
There is a demand for the President and a very strong one indeed.
Not to acknowledge that is to ignore one of the big realities of practical politics.

However, an analysis of this "demand" may afford these senators some degree of comfort. For it largely comes from the Federal jobholders, vigorously supported by a lusty chorus of New Deal-Fair Deal publicists and politicians, of whom Mr. Jonathan Daniels, of North Carolina, is typical. Anyone who thinks this combination is not powerful or that it cannot generate about the most effective propaganda in the country just does not know the facts. Probably the man who has most deeply studied this "pay-roll setup" is Mr. Rogers C.
Dunn, of the Dunn Survey, Greenwich, Conn. For years Mr. Dunn has contended that the Republicans cannot win an election until and unless they find some way drastically to decrease the size of the Federal machine. He supports this view by some interesting figures.
For example, in his latest "release" Mr. Dunn estimates the number of civilian Federal employees in May at 2,300,000. Assuming—as is conservative—that every one of these is worth four votes, he says, insures at least 9,200,000 votes for the 1952 election.

This is about twenty per cent of the total vote (49,000,000) cast in 1948. Since Mr. Dunn's last estimate at least 60,000 more have been added. Senator Harry Byrd asserts that new jobholders are going on the pay roll now at the rate of one every minute and a half. Actually, this jobholder demand is more formidable than any other demand from any other voting group in the country. The reason is simple enough.
It is based not on sentiment but on self-interest. Most of these 2,300,000 have been on the Federal pay roll since 1933. It was then, under the New Deal, that the extraordinary expansion of the governmental machine began. Now, after eighteen years, it is swollen beyond all bureaucratic dreams and the cost is more than $8,000,000,000 a year. To many hundreds of thousands of these jobholders the continuance of Mr. Truman in the White House means a continuance of their own security. A change in administration—even if the Truman successor should be another Democrat—would shake that security.
The election of a Republican would destroy it completely.

Undoubtedly this would cause great pain. Many thousands of these Federal jobholders have held their jobs until they have come to believe they have a vested right in them. The idea of being ousted is utterly abhorrent. The surest way to vaccinate against such a calamity is to renominate and re-elect Mr. Truman. Under these circumstances it is natural not only that there should be a strong demand for him to run but that all of these 2,300,000 should act as one man to force him to do so.

This is the most powerful and effective political machine in history.
Its adherents do not have to be argued with, prodded or preached at. Neither literature nor money need be wasted on them. Automatically they support the Administration and work with all they have to keep it in. Mr. Dunn thinks this "pay-roll setup" can't be beated. Beyond doubt, it is a tremendous asset, but it is wrong to regard it as unbeatable. However, he is not wrong in accusing the Republican leaders of stupidity not to have made any genuine effort to cut down its size.

The Republicans were pledged to reduce the number of Federal employees if given control of Congress.
In 1946 they gained that control and a Republican Congress appropriated the funds which operated the Government for the fiscal years from July 1, 1947, to July 1, 1949.
But, as Mr. Dunn points out, they did nothing. On July 1, 1947, there were 2,103,000 Federal employees, and on July 1, 1949, there were 2,108,000. Now, when the power of the pay-roll setup has greatly increased, they have not wholeheartedly or as a party joined those Democrats in Congress who seek to place a temporary ceiling on the number of employees. Nor have either the Republicans stopped competing to get Federal establishments—which mean more Federal employees—in their own communities.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"By FULTON LEWIS, JR.
(Copyright, 1951, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, July 5.—I was telling you yesterday about oil stock salesman Harry S. Truman, now President of the United States.
None of the official records of the President's activities carry an account of his activities as treasurer and salesman of Morgan Oil and Refining Company stock in 1916-17.

It took a lot of fine print reading to run down what happened to the 60,000 shares of oil stock the Morgan Company floated at $5.00 a share. Two years later the company sold out its "assets," which consisted of a lease on 2,500 acres of useless land in Oklahoma. Most of the stockholders aren't even aware today of what happened to the company, including those who have used the certificates as wallpaper never to be a chump again.

The President used to hit up his friends on the street in Kansas City when he was out pounding the pavement trying to sell the stock.
Nobody now remembers exactly whether it was Mr. Truman or some other salesman who worked over employees of the Armour and Company packing plant in Kansas City.
Whoever it was did a good job.
Dozens of packing plant employees took the bait. In fact, one sucker picked up 104 shares. He flips through the stock certificates every now and then just to be sure whom he isn't going to vote for in Presidential elections.

When the President and his pal, Dave H. Morgan, of Eureka, Kansas, decided to give the public a break and let them in on the oil company deal, they ran full page advertisements in a Kansas City paper. I gave you a sample yesterday about how they drummed up business. There hasn't been anything like it since the Securities and Exchange Commission started police work.

Asking price on the stock was $25 in one of the advertisements, but Mr. Truman was selling it to friends at $5 a share. In the papers filed in the Kansas City courthouse in 1916 the shares were valued at $1. Apparently Mr. Truman and Morgan got as enthusiastic as their copywriters. One of the ads reads:
"The holdings of this company are located in the mid-continent field in Texas and Oklahoma. A report on March 21, 1917, states that one well in Newkirk will possibly produce 10,000 barrels a day and the company plans to secure a lease on the same range and drill a well on its holdings in this field."

A little later on, in the same advertisement, there is another tease that worked on a lot of get-rich-quick dreamers.

"The Wells-Bryfogle well on the Noffaker farm came in last Friday and is reported as flowing at the rate of 150 barrels per day. Land from which this well was brought in adjoins the hundreds of acres which the Morgan Company holds and is near the company's refinery at Rollins and the company is now moving a rig to offset the above well, and with the holdings of this company, which now seems certain, it would not only insure an adequate supply of crude oil for the refinery but will also increase the value of our holdings almost beyond mention."

After the bait had been tossed out prospective stockholders were softened up for the touch. A stock promoter of the old school, who has since died, was brought in for the killing. But there were enough prospective customers left over for Mr. Truman to sell to.

The Morgan Company, as it was initially called, was a sort of brokerage firm, dealing in leases and oil interests. It was at one time owned by a man named Culbertson, who sold it to Morgan and Mr. Truman as the Morgan Oil and Refining Company. Trustees were installed.
They were Morgan, Mr. Truman, Jerry Culbertson, J. J. Hurt and Earl Ridge, all of Kansas City, Mo.

For the benefit of skeptics you can find most of the pertinent information in the courthouse in Kansas City. It's in Book 35, L to Z, page 141; Book 1755, page 196; Book 1759, page 278. This may be helpful to the President's biographers who have so far overlooked this important period in his life.

As I told you yesterday I've got three shares of the stock. It's worthless unless it bears Mr. Truman's name. And then worth only what an autograph hound will give you for it. I'm informed more stock certificates are on the way to my office, since some of the holders are sick of shuffling the stuff from one file to another.

SECOND WARD WINS 5TH GAME IN A ROW HERE

Second Ward A. C. and "Chick" Jansky won their fifth straight game, Tuesday evening, in a well-played contest with Auto Boys. The game went eight innings with the final score being: Second Ward, 1; Auto Boys, 0. The triumph put the Cardinals in third place and dropped the Auto Boys into a deadlock with the first place.

Jansky allowed the Mill street contingent but one hit. With one out in the seventh, Harold Peltz led off a single to right field. Under Peltz made his safety only 19 feet had faced Stansky in the first and one-third frames. In the first frame only 25 faced the Second Ward hurler. However, it was a perfect game until the seventh because two batters had reached base on walks but one was out in a double-play and the other caught trying to steal.

Jansky had to be good, for his second opponent, "Eddie" Kornick, was also pitching excellent. Kornick only gave up three runs and blanked the Second Ward team for seven frames.

An error of omission caused the final score of the tilt. In the top of the eighth, Perrone reached for an error by Plavin, the pitcher failing to tag first on a throw to first. Sam Sottile beat out a hit to short but Perrone turned to third and was tagged out by Sottile. Sottile stood on first while Garabelli filed out. Sottile's second and continued to third on Luke Wade's low throw. Then he played. Sallustio sacrificed with plenty of time to get the runner at first. Kornick threw the plate to get Sottile. But the runner slid across with the long city of the hard-fought battle.

Johnny Palumbo played a fine defensive game for the winners with his Oriole doing a fine job for the boys.

LOW AND RAMBLING

THE LOW RAMBLING lines of this home with its wood shingle side walls are most modern and pleasing. Like so many of the new houses, this one was inspired by the popular ranch house designs. The tiled entrance, scalloped detail over bedroom windows add charm.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

SECOND-STORY men are out of luck these days and if the present trend toward homes with long, low lines continues, they'll be out of business completely.

Take today's home. It's typical of the times, has that ranch house look that's even being featured in the smallest and most inexpensive summer cottages.

There's no doubt about it, when Mrs. America builds a home comfort comes first. An all-on-one-floor plan is her answer to step-saving. No running up and downstairs for the Modern Mrs. She wants her home arranged efficiently, and efficient is just the word for today's house.

This is a four-room dwelling, but the dining space might well be considered another room. In fact, in the decorative scheme of things, it could be blocked off with a screen. Certainly, this plan features five-room efficiency.

Pretty picture windows throw light on the long living room. This is an attractive room all year round. In the warm months, the windows provide a lovely view of the scenery outside. In winter, the natural fireplace throws a warm, cozy glow about the room.

Next to the fireplace, there's a wall bookcase. This is omitted when the house is built without a basement. Both plans feature two closets in this room—one next to the entrance, the other near the dining alcove, which is conveniently adjacent to the kitchen. From a decorative standpoint, the dining section has many possibilities. As in so many of the new homes, it is set in L-shape to the living room. It could be screened off, or you might prefer to furnish it with a console table and make it part of the living area, a room that could be converted for dining by just opening out the table. The kitchen is arranged corridor style with counters, cabinets and appliances lined up along opposite walls. This is a popular arrangement, one that makes less work for the homemaker when the dinner hour rolls around. The kitchen is slightly larger when the house is built without a basement. For this plan, the area devoted to a cellar stairway in the other plan is added to the kitchen space and used to house heater, tubs and other utilities. Both plans provide a kitchen entrance from the small back porch and yard.

There are four closets in the bedroom section of the house—a good-sized one in each bedroom, a deep hallway closet and a linen storage unit. The front bedroom is large enough to accommodate twin beds. In addition, it has three windows that look out on the lawn, plus a side window that provides cross ventilation. The back bedroom has two small back windows and a side window, too. Even the garage features efficient design. There's a large storage closet here that's ideal for garden equipment, car materials and all manner of household aids. Ceilings are 8 feet high in living quarters; 7 feet high in the basement. The house comprises 13,550 cubic feet with a basement; 13,585 cubic feet without a basement.

An information sheet giving sketches and diagrams, which will enable you to judge whether this is the house for you, is available. Send a self-addressed stamped envelope to this newspaper for the name and address of the firm from which this sheet may be obtained. Ask for "The Anne."

To arrive at a general estimate of the construction cost of this house, ascertain construction costs per cubic foot in your locality, then multiply this by the number of cubic feet given here. The result should be within 10 per cent either way of the cost.

FOUR ROOMS with the efficiency of five. That's today's house. The dining area in the living room can well be considered an extra room.

Fire Marshal Is Named by Township of peace on the fires and monies received from them. Discussion was held by the commissioners on whether reports are needed from the justice of peace offices, and whether any legal action can be taken to insure the receiving of the reports. It was decided to turn the matter over to the solicitor for proper interpretation of the law.

Commissioner James Harris reported that the fire marshals for the township have been appointed and are ready to issue permits. Another police officer is needed and the secretary should be instructed to advertise for those who wish to apply for the position. The rate of pay will be $2600 for the first six months and then an increase to $2800. Civil Service Commission will give the date for the examination.

Permission has been received from the State to restrict parking on State road and Cedar avenue. Mr. Harris stated, The sewage company that is being formed makes it necessary that the township have a planning commission appointed. "We should not wait too long to do this as the township is building fast. We must decide where we want to go either with Falls Township, Bristol Borough, or form an authority of our own." This matter was held over for further investigation.

Walter Bowker, reporting for health and sanitation committee, stated there are 37 cesspools running over and the following have been recommended to the State for health officer and board of health: Charles Simpson, Fleetwings Drive, health officer; Dr. A. Gonzalez, Dr. Francis Pires, and Walter P. Wheeler, for health board. There is to be another appointed at a later date.

Building Inspector, Edgar Smith, reported 45 permits have been issued.

Elwood A. Britton, secretary to the Commissioners, read a letter from the Township solicitor explaining the changes in the rules and regulations of the Civil Service Commission. He then read resolutions appointing fire marshals, and fire committee, and one for the township to receive county aid. The resolutions were adopted by the commissioners.

The resolution appointing the fire committee and fire marshals reads in part as follows: "The Bristol Township Fire Prevention Ordinance requires the appointment of a fire committee, a fire marshal, and two deputy fire marshals by the Board of Commissioners of said Township."

"Section 1. That a fire committee is hereby created as required by the aforesaid ordinance and that A. C. Smith, Frank Blusiewicz, and Joseph Haines, all of the Township of Bristol, are hereby appointed as the first members thereof."

"Section 2. William Smith, of the Township of Bristol, is hereby appointed fire marshal, and Fred K. Hibbs and William R. Sottung, of the said Township, are hereby appointed deputy fire marshals."

Child and His Report Card

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

When the final school report of a child in the elementary grades, high school or college comes home there often are pathetic scenes if the report is interpreted as bad or failing. It can be very discouraging not only to the child himself but to his parents.

Regardless of how the father and mother are depressed in spirit by such a report, their common sense and self-control are then on trial. If they let their normal urges prompt them, they will first think of what their relatives and friends will say. They will pity themselves and let the child know how they feel. Their response will be wholly selfish. They won't put themselves, in their imaginations, in the place of the child. Accordingly, they may tell the child how he has disappointed and humiliated them. They may abuse him with ugly angry words and compare him with a brother or sister or other child whose school grades are good, and charge him with having been negligent and lazy. In case they so respond, they have overlooked the fact that the past is past, water over the dam. No amount of abuse or punishment of the child can change the record up to then. They will lose sight of the main issue—what can be done from now on?

Manage Emotions

If these parents use the sense they were born with and are able to manage their emotions, they will do as follows: They will calmly observe the report. They won't express pleasure over it, of course. Neither will they indulge in emotions of grief and disappointment. Already the child must know they are worried over the matter. But they will face the problem very objectively and assure him they are going to try hard to help him find ways to do better at books from now on.

Unless these parents have already done so, they will get all the information they can from the school or college to help explain the child's learning difficulties, and such recommendations as it may have to help him from now on.

School Authorities

In some instances, the parents will seek the help of a competent psychologist or other expert. Since there are some quick posing as proficient experts, the parents should ask the school authorities to name a specialist. Always, it should be safe to get in touch with the psychology department of a college or university. It might be expected that the expert would diagnose the lagging child's learning problems and recommend a corrective program.

Usually the school principal or college dean is best able to recommend a special teacher or tutor. Sometimes there are special summer sessions available, particularly in the public schools.

Of course, the younger or older child, needing some special instruction during summer should not feel it as punishment. He needs to be won to it as a rare opportunity. Usually, the child needing help, especially in the elementary grades, will gain most with a quiet, patient teacher who will, by simple procedure, ascertain how far back she must go with him in each subject before he can come forward successfully. Not many parents can do this well because they can't easily manage themselves and keep calm and patient. The simple principles involved are discussed in my special home helps in reading, spelling and arithmetic, to be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this paper.

Parade Opens Gala "Fourth" Celebration

tank truck appeared with marching Boy Scout Troop No. 44 and Cub Pack No. 44. Two old model cars attracted spectators with fire crackers set off. Another float portrayed "Bucks County dog catchers" with the catcher carrying a net and gun and a real dog in a cage. Other boys and girls on decorated "bikes" and children marching carried flags.

Truck of Newportville Fire Co., No. 1, Bensalem township, brought up the rear. The parade ended at the community center.

The float carrying "Miss Liberty" and "Uncle Sam" won a prize as the best float.

The children were served "hot dogs," soft drinks, pretzels, and poppicks at the center. Aid at the food booth was given by women of the community, and decorating was done by Joseph Sader. Men assisted with games, etc.

Race winners were as follows: Foot race—boys up to seven years, John Fred; up to five years, Fredrick Cotshott; up to 12 years, Charles Dawicki; over 12 years, "Jack" Casperson. Girls foot races—up to five years, Rosemary Marra and Louise Heiber; six to eight years, Kathleen Phillips; seven to 10 years, Carol Brown; over 12 years, Donna McCally. Three-legged race—boys up to 12 years, David McQuaid and Charles Dawicki; Warren Seigman, Jr., and Joseph Trendler, over 12 years, Donald Larson and "Bobby" Charleston; men over 18 years, "Gus" Tschantz and Sgt. Henry Kleckner.

The Bucks County Rescue Squad were summoned but the occupants of the Heath machine refused medical attention; however, were treated at the scene of the accident.

Considerable damage is reported to both machines. Investigation was made by Chief of Police Joseph Seader, Bristol township.

Damage to the extent of $700 was reported as the result of an accident at 315 yesterday afternoon, two miles west of Peapack on Route No. 213. A 1947 coupe operated by David S. L. Munyon, 49, Miami, Fla., accompanied by his wife, was traveling west on Route No. 213, and collided with a 1948 sedan operated by George J. Daly, Jr., 27, Narberth, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. George Daly, which was proceeding east on Route No. 213.

Both machines are said to have swerved to avoid an accident resulting in a sideswipe. The Munyon machine was damaged on the right side to the extent of $400, the Daly vehicle on the left side amounting to $300.

No injuries were reported. The Florida resident was arrested for making a bad pass on a hill. Investigation was made by Officer McDonough, Langhorne state police barracks.

GETTING OUT

PHILADELPHIA (INS)—A burglar suspect ruefully reflected that he should have "eased the joint" a little better. The reason: he managed to break into a chain grocery store, but couldn't get out. Nathanial Farmer, 25, was arrested inside the store, as he chopped away at the iron bars of a rear window with a meat cleaver.

Today's Quiet Moment

By The Rev. Louis J. Heim
Pastor
Wilkinson Memorial Methodist Church, Croydon

Our Heavenly Father, as we bow our heads in prayer, may our hearts be opened to Thy Spirit, lest we say words with our hearts not in them, and make Thee see the emptiness of our petition, or make Thee angry at our insincerity.

Give us faith to believe in prayer, and in Thy willingness to work in and through us so that Thy will may be done in and through our land. This we ask in Jesus' name. Amen.

CROP PROTECTION

NEW YORK—(INS)—It pays to plant special foods for the birds and insect pests if you want to save your regular fruit crop. Birds will gorge themselves on Juneberries and Mulberries and leave apricots and other fruits untouched in an orchard. So, House Beautiful points out, commercial food growers plant these delicacies to tempt the "raiders" from the more valued crop. In addition, a few gourds will keep the cucumbers free from invading beetles.

Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. CHICKEN BARBECUE BECOMING FAVORITE FOR OUTDOOR MEALS

By Frances Vannoy
(Home Economics Extension Representative)

Chicken barbecue is fast becoming a favorite food for outdoor meals. It is simple and quickly prepared and few tools and ingredients are needed.

You can dig a trench in the ground, build fire in it, then put a rack or wire mesh (one-half inch) over it and broil the chicken. Or you can use an outdoor grill. Build fire in the trench or grill with paper, wood chips and briquettes about 15 minutes before time to start broiling chicken. You can use the broiler in the range if you wish.

Allow half of a 2½ to 3 pound chicken or one-quarter of a four to five pound chicken for each person. Dip chicken into barbecue sauce and place on the grill, skin side away from heat. Turn chicken with a long-handled fork every 4 or 5 minutes, and brush frequently with sauce. Watch closely to prevent burning the skin. It takes about 45 minutes to cook half of a 2½ pound chicken; about an hour for the larger chickens cut in quarters. Keep the sauce hot and stir often. You can attach longer handles to small brushes for applying the sauce. To test for doneness, protect hands with paper napkins, then bend thigh and leg to see if they move easily from body.

Five chickens, 2½ to 3 pounds, cut in half will serve ten persons.

For the sauce mix together and heat 1 cup water, 2 cups vinegar, ½ pound butter, and 2 tablespoons salt. Keep this hot and well mixed. Dip chicken into the sauce before starting to broil, then brush with sauce while cooking.

With barbecued chicken, you can serve potato chips, cole slaw, pickles, buttered rolls, coffee, and ice cream. For a heartier meal, scalloped potatoes, garden salad or sliced tomatoes, buttered rolls, cherry pie, and coffee are suggested.
